Executive Summary

1. The Government-Private Sector Forum (G-PSF) is an open plenary session of the Council of Ministers that was first established in 1999 under the wise initiative of Samdech Akka Moha Sena Padei Techo Hun Sen, the Former Prime Minister of the Kingdom of Cambodia and current President of the Senate. This mechanism has played a crucial role in allowing the private sector to raise concerns and challenges seeking resolution and intervention from the Royal Government.
2. Recognizing the importance of sustaining the G-PSF to contribute to improving the business and investment climate in Cambodia, on November 13, 2023, Samdech Moha Bovor Thipadei Hun Manet, Prime Minister of the Kingdom of Cambodia, chaired the 19th G-PSF, which was the first G-PSF of the 7th legislature of the National Assembly. This 19th forum introduced key resolute reform measures in 11 packages, including: (1) Adjusting the business and investment climate; (2) Easing the compliance burden; (3) Facilitating businesses under tax authority jurisdiction; (4) Trade facilitation under customs authority jurisdiction; (5) Improving transportation and infrastructure; (6) Rehabilitation and development of tourism; (7) Developing agriculture and agro-industry; (8) Banking and finance sector; (9) Mining and energy sector; (10) Construction and real estate sector; and (11) Other issues.
3. As assigned by the Royal Government to monitor and evaluate the progress of implementing the above measures, the Council for the Development of Cambodia (CDC) has prepared this report to inform the Royal Government of the progress for the first semester of 2024. This progress report was prepared using a quantitative approach based on the results of the G-PSF Tracking System for the 19th G-PSF plenary, which has two key tools: a Dashboard and a Dataset. Progress monitoring is defined at three levels: fully achieved; being implemented/in progress; and not yet implemented.
4. The summary results of monitoring the progress of implementing the 11 packages of resolute reform measures, which were broken down into 188 detailed measures for ease of monitor and evaluation, are as follows:
 - a- Overall Progress: Measures fully achieved are approximately 57% (equivalent to 108 measures). Meanwhile, measures being implemented are approximately 43% (equivalent to 80 measures, most of which are ongoing measures requiring continuous implementation, while some others have not yet reached the implementation deadline). Overall, more than half of the measures were fully achieved within the first six months of 2024, indicating significant progress in measures implementation.
 - b- Progress by Responsible Ministry/Institution: All measures have begun implemented, with at least one measure fully achieved by most ministries/institutions. Specifically, the National Bank of Cambodia (5 measures) and the Ministry of Mines and Energy (2 measures) have fully achieved 100% of their measures. Additionally, the ministry/institution leading the implementation of the most measures is the General Department of Taxation (56 measures, of which 48 measures, or about 86%, have been fully implemented). Meanwhile, the Ministry of Public Works and Transport and Preah Sihanouk Provincial Administration are responsible for implementing the fewest measures, one each, which are still being implemented.
 - c- Progress by Measure Package/Group: Progress by measure groups shows that Group 8 the "Banking and Finance Sector" (4 measures) has made excellent progress, with 100% of measures fully achieved. Meanwhile, the group with the most measures is Group 3 "Facilitating Businesses Under Tax Authority Jurisdiction" (52 measures), which has fully achieved 42 measures or about 81%. Group 5 "Improving Transportation and Infrastructure" has the fewest measures (1 measure, which is still being implemented).

5. Institutional Mechanism: To enhance the effectiveness of the role and duties of the "Private Sector Development Steering Committee" (PSDSC) in coordinating the G-PSF mechanism, the Royal Government decided to modify the scope and rename PSDSC as the "Coordination Committee for the G-PSF Mechanism" (CCG-PSF). This G-PSF mechanism has gradually expanded its scope to 14 Working Groups by Sector as of the 19th G-PSF plenary and established two additional new working groups - the Digital Economy, Society and Telecommunications Working Group (Working Group "O") and the Territorial Administration, Security and Public Order Working Group (Working Group "P") to serve as dialogue partners with the private sector. Additionally, the CDC has established a working group to drive monitoring and evaluation of the implementation progress of the resolute reform measure packages, with responsibilities for setting up a monitoring and evaluation system, coordinating with relevant ministries/institutions, and consolidating progress reports for the Royal Government every six months.
6. Challenges: In implementing measures, as well as coordinating the G-PSF and preparing this report, there are three categories of emerging challenges:
 - Measure Implementation: Some challenges and requests were raised by relevant ministries/institutions, particularly regarding a lack of resources and technical tools, cooperation with, or participation from, the private sector, dissemination of completed/achieved deliverables/measures, and some technical issues.
 - Institutional Mechanism: The emerging challenges include the lack of a specific supporting institutional mechanism with full functions and adequate capacity to serve as the executive body for CCG-PSF and the lack of clearly defined organization and operation of this mechanism.
 - Preparation and Implementation of Monitoring and Evaluation System: Challenges encountered in this area include the limited time, human resources and experience of the CDC, the limited scope and capacity of the system to incorporate private sector evaluation and feedback, and the lack of a unified digital format for relevant ministries/institutions to input data directly.
7. Recommendations: Some recommendations to strengthen measure implementation as well as improve the institutional mechanism, and monitoring and evaluation system include:
 - Improving Measure Implementation: Focus on incorporating measures into the annual budget strategic plans of responsible ministries/institutions and increasing cooperation with development partners; preparing action plans for measure implementation with prioritization and clear timeframes and indicators; widely disseminating results of Sectoral Working Group meetings and the outcomes of the plenary; and encouraging the private sector to use the G-PSF mechanism as a priority channel for raising issues and recommendations.
 - Improving the Institutional Mechanism: Focus on upgrading the current ad hoc monitoring and evaluation working group for monitoring and evaluating the progress of the resolute reform measures of the CDC to a secretariat; preparing and implementing a standard operating procedures manual; and establishing secretariats for each G-PSF Sectoral Working Group, whereby members are assigned by the Co-Chairs of the Sectoral Working Groups.
 - Improving the Monitoring and Evaluation System: Focus on developing a comprehensive monitoring and evaluation system that can monitor progress, assess impacts, incorporating private sector feedback and inputs; developing a technology platform and inter-ministerial technical working group as well as manuals and training workshops for stakeholders on data input; expanding the scope of monitoring and evaluation to issues raised at the sectoral working group level; and publishing and disseminating monitoring and evaluation results and related documents online for the public to access.

I. Introduction

As the background, the Government-Private Sector Forum (G-PSF) is an open plenary session of the Council of Ministers that was first established in 1999 under the wise initiative of Samdech Akka Moha Sena Padei Techo Hun Sen, the Former Prime Minister of the Kingdom of Cambodia and current President of the Senate, who, as the founder and outstanding grand architect, has led and chaired every previous forum, achieving outstanding fruitful and glorifying results for the national socio-economy. This forum is considered a key agenda item, and it is important in each mandate of the Royal Government to enhance close cooperation and dialogue culture between the Royal Government and the private sector, and jointly address challenges and concerns of business and investors. The aim is to promote private sector development in Cambodia, contributing to improving the business and investment climate through providing facilitations, reducing business costs, enhancing competitiveness, increasing market efficiency, labor productivity, and boosting economic growth. The forum has allowed the Royal Government, as the policy maker and regulator, to hear concerns, requests and practical feedback reflected from the private sector to refine, improve and guide strategic implementation to support private sector development to truly become the engine of national economic growth. All decisions made by this forum have the same effect as decisions of the Council of Ministers.

The forum's outcomes were praised in a World Bank evaluation report in 2009, recognizing it as a highly effective government-private sector dialogue mechanism that received the highest performance evaluation score among more than 20 other countries. This mechanism has played a crucial role in allowing the private sector to raise concerns, requests and challenges to seek solutions and interventions from the Royal Government side. The G-PSF plenary was suspended for over three years due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The scars of this crisis, combined with emerging new global challenges of a systemic and structural nature, and as Cambodia's economy continued to gradually recover, this forum was organized just 83 days after the new government was established under the firm leadership of Samdech Moha Bovor Thipadei Hun Manet, Prime Minister of the Kingdom of Cambodia. Its purpose was to promote national economic recovery and continue the good tradition from the Royal Government of the previous legislature for supporting, promoting and enhancing private sector development in Cambodia. All of these demonstrate the importance of continuing this crucial forum mechanism in every government mandate, up to the 7th legislature of the National Assembly, as also specified in the Royal Government's political platform for Nation Building and Defense 2023-2028 and the Pentagonal Strategy-Phase I. The Pentagonal Strategy-Phase I prioritizes economic diversification¹ and competitiveness by continuing to implement and update Cambodia Industrial Development² Policy 2015-2025 (IDP). The IDP highlights continued strengthening of consultation mechanisms with the private sector through the G-PSF to strengthen the implementation of this policy and transform it into an effective mechanism for collecting input and feedback aiming to make the business and investment climate more fairly and equally competitive, as well as able to attract investment that benefits all stakeholders.³ Thus, efforts to improve and strengthen the institutional framework of this forum mechanism, from the beginning of the 7th mandate of the Royal Government of Cambodia until now, have continued to contribute significantly to implementing the Pentagonal Strategy-Phase I and IDP.

Before reaching this 19th G-PSF, the Royal Government and private sector co-chairs led a total of 14 meetings of the 14 sectoral working groups from May 2023 until before the forum date, with nearly 1,300 total participants, of whom about 24% were women. All sectoral working groups discussed nearly 200 issues and recommendations, of which 23 issues were referred to other sectoral working groups with more appropriate competency and authority to resolve them. Meanwhile, about 14 cross-sectoral and inter-institutional issues were forwarded to the Committee on Economic and Financial Policy (CEFP). As a result, the sectoral working groups and CEFP have worked to address private sector issues and recommendations with high ownership and effectiveness. The remaining private sector issues and recommendations were submitted for resolution at the plenary level.

On November 13, 2023 at the Peace Palace, Samdech Moha Bovor Thipadei Hun Manet, Prime Minister of the Kingdom of Cambodia, chaired the 19th G-PSF with approximately 1,200 participants, of whom about 31% were women, to review and address issues, requests and concerns of the private sector that had not yet received full resolution or response. The forum introduced 11 key packages of resolute reform measures, including: (1) Adjusting the business and investment climate; (2) Easing the compliance burden; (3) Facilitating businesses under tax authorities; (4) Trade facilitation under customs authority jurisdiction; (5) Improving transportation and infrastructure; (6) Rehabilitation and development of tourism; (7) Developing agriculture and agro-industry; (8) Banking and the finance sector; (9) Mining and the energy sector; (10) Construction and the real estate sector; and (11) Other issues.

As assigned by the Royal Government to monitor and evaluate progress in implementing the above measures, the Council for the Development of Cambodia (CDC) has prepared this report to inform the Royal Government of the implementation progress for the first semester of 2024.

After the introduction, this progress report has the following structure:

- Section II: Methodology for preparing the report
- Section III: Progress in implementing resolute reform measures
- Section IV: Institutional mechanism
- Section V: Challenges and recommendations
- Section VI: Conclusion and way forward.

II. Methodology for Preparing the Report

This progress report was prepared using a quantitative approach based on the results of the G-PSF Tracking System for the 19th G-PSF plenary, which was co-developed by the CDC and the Cambodia Australia Partnership for Resilient Economic Development (CAPRED) program. This tracking system has two key tools: a Dashboard and a Dataset.

The Dashboard is a tool that displays the quantitative progress of implementing measures introduced at the 19th G-PSF in the form of infographics. This progress is defined at three levels: fully achieved (green); being implemented/in progress (orange); and not yet implemented (red).

The Dataset is a tool for storing important data and information in a matrix table format, organized by measures that are clearly categorized by: measure groups (as stated in Notification No. 1272 dated November 22, 2023 on the results of the 19th G-PSF); sectoral working groups of the 19th G-PSF; lead ministries/institutions responsible for implementation and supporting ministries/institutions, implementation dates; progress (overall and by quarter); the dates measures were fully achieved; implementation results challenges, requests, reference documents, etc. The resolute reform measures packages or measure groups introduced at the 19th forum totaled 11 and were broken down into 188 detailed measures. The rationale for breaking down all measures into small detailed measures is that some have a broad scope and multi-measure characteristics, i.e., having two or three objectives in one measure, which makes it difficult to monitor and evaluate the progress and could make tracking less accurate.

To make the Dataset a comprehensive tool for preparing this progress report, data collection was the next important step, which was done through a report template filled out by lead ministries/institutions on the progress of implementing measures introduced at the 19th G-PSF plenary and sent back to the CDC for consolidation, synthesizing, analysis and preparation of this progress report.

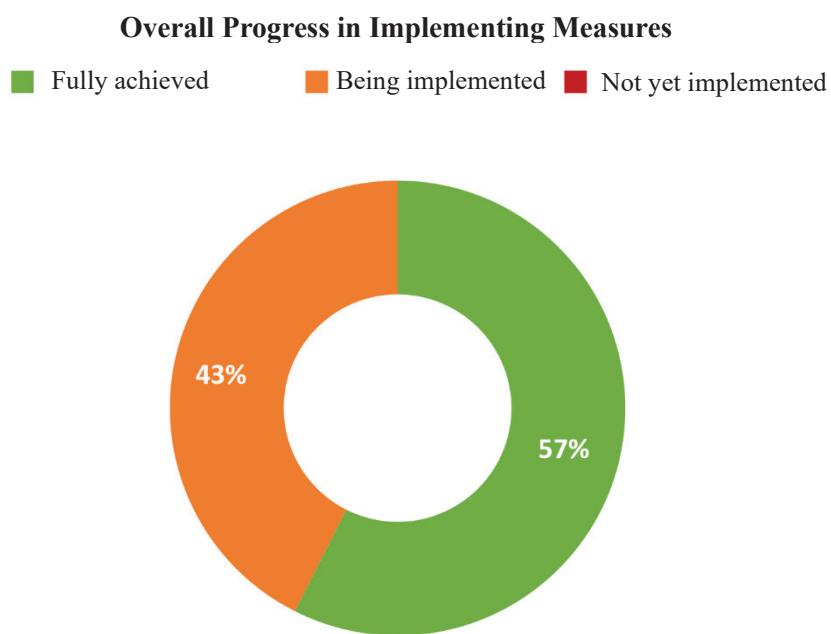

However, this system currently only has the capacity to track the progress of measures introduced at the 19th G-PSF plenary and does not yet have the capacity to monitor and evaluate other aspects of the G-PSF mechanism (e.g., the number of meetings and issues raised in sectoral working groups before and after the 19th G-PSF plenary). Nevertheless, the CDC has been collaborating with the CAPRED to strengthen the system's capacity to become a comprehensive monitoring and evaluation system that is highly flexible and acceptable to all stakeholders.

III. Progress in Implementing Resolute Reform Measures

Progress in implementing all 188 measures will be tracked by categorization into three levels: fully achieved /solved (green); being implemented/in progressed (orange); and not yet implemented (red). This section will examine overall progress in implementing measures, progress by lead ministries/institutions responsible for implementation, and progress by measure groups.

1. Overall Progress

The diagram in Figure 1 shows the overall progress in implementing measures, of which the measures fully achieved are approximately 57% (equivalent to 108 measures) and measures being implemented are approximately 43% (equivalent to 80 measures). Meanwhile, all measures have already begun the implementation process.

Overall, more than half of the measures were fully achieved within the first six months of 2024, indicating significant progress in measure implementation. Meanwhile, nearly half of the measures are "being implemented" or "in progress" because some are ongoing measures requiring continuous implementation, while others have not yet reached their implementation deadline. In fact, some measures have implementation dates at the end of 2024 or subsequent years, and some others have dates set for one full government mandate period.

According to the Notification No. 1272, dated November 22, 2023 on the results of the 19th G-PSF, among the measures introduced, those with specific timeframes constitute approximately 8% of total measures (equivalent to 14 measures), while measures without specific timeframes account for approximately 92% of total measures (equivalent to 174 measures). At the same time, the Royal Government has instructed relevant ministries and institutions to prepare clear key indicators and timeframes with the highest sense of responsibility (as stated in point 11.1).

2. Progress by Responsible Ministry/Institution

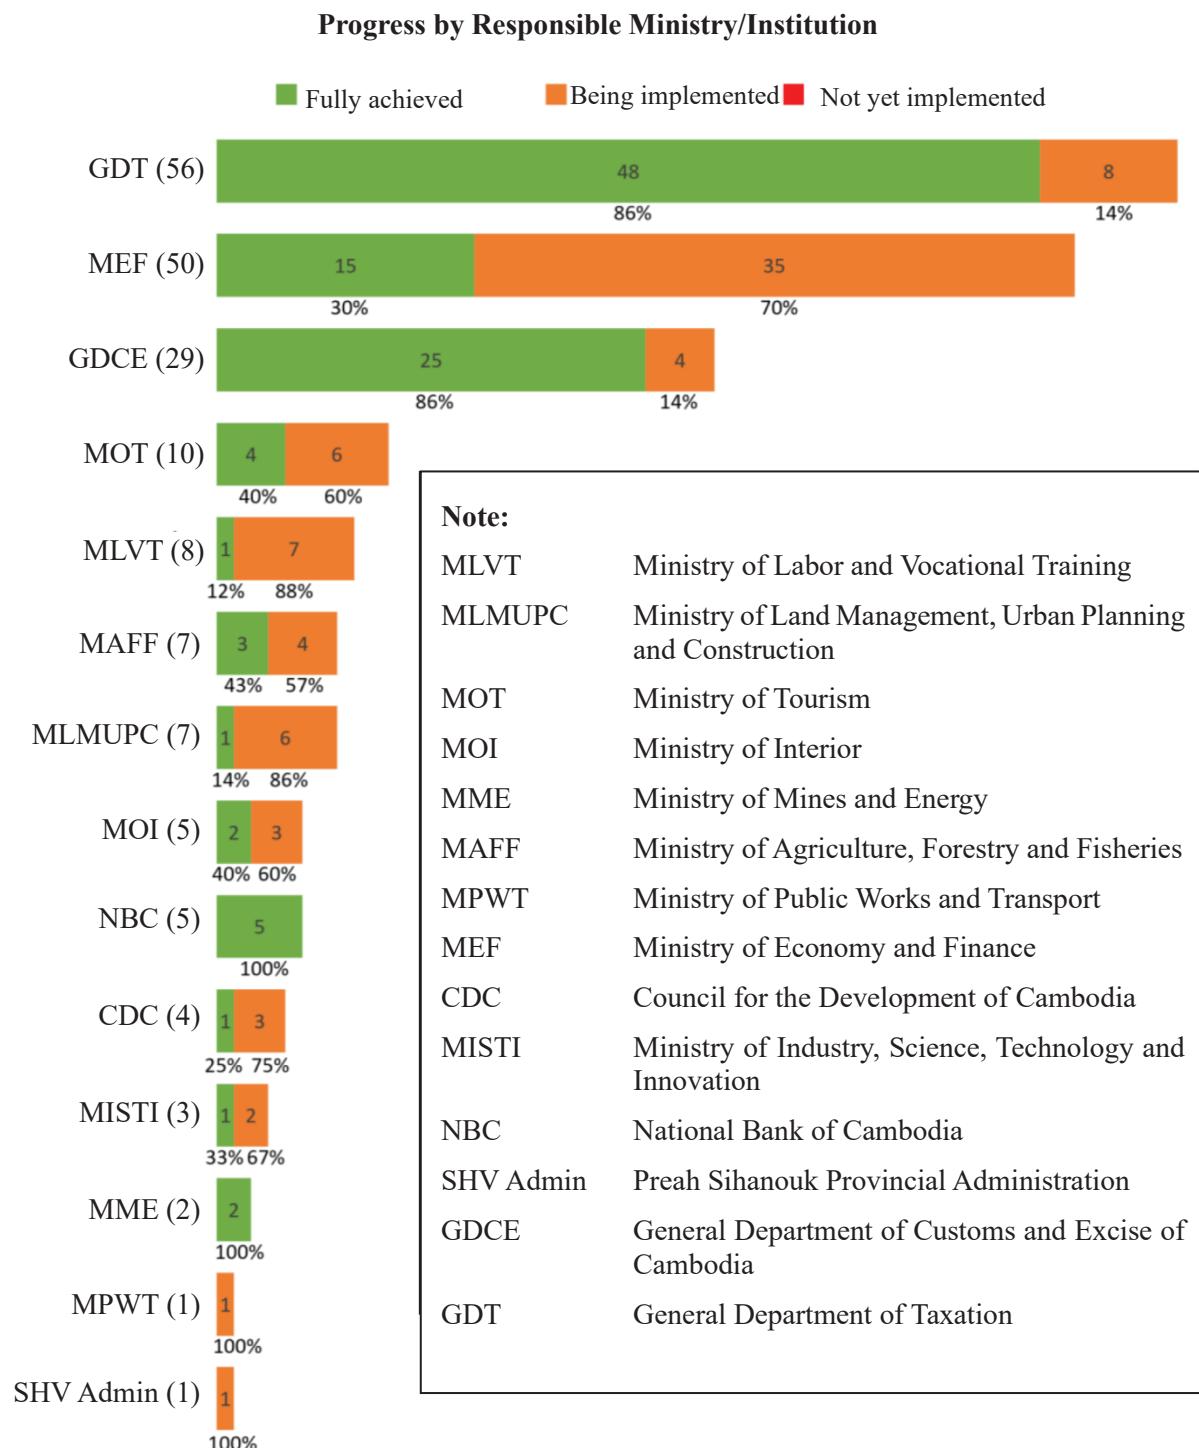

Figure 2 shows the breakdown and progress of implementing measures by government ministries/institutions,⁴ of which the General Department of Taxation (56 measures) is responsible for implementing the most measures, followed by the Ministry of Economy and Finance (50 measures). Meanwhile, the Ministry of Public Works and Transport and Preah Sihanouk Provincial Administration are responsible for implementing the fewest measures, with just one each.

Regarding the progress in implementing measures, the National Bank of Cambodia (5 measures) and The Ministry of Mines and Energy (2 measures) have both fully achieved 100% of their measures. At the same time, the General Department of Taxation (56 measures) and The General Department of Customs and Excise of Cambodia (29 measures) have fully achieved 48 measures and 25 measures, respectively, equivalent to about 86%.

Meanwhile, ministries/institutions with no measures fully achieved are the Ministry of Public Works and Transport and Preah Sihanouk Provincial Administration, which are each responsible for implementing one measure which is being implemented. The Ministry of Economy and Finance has the most measures being implemented (35 out of 50 measures, equivalent to 70%, are being implemented).

⁴ To support the implementation of resolute reform measures, the ministries and institutions in charge have issued legal normative documents and various guidelines (as attached in Appendix 1)

3. Progress by Measure Group

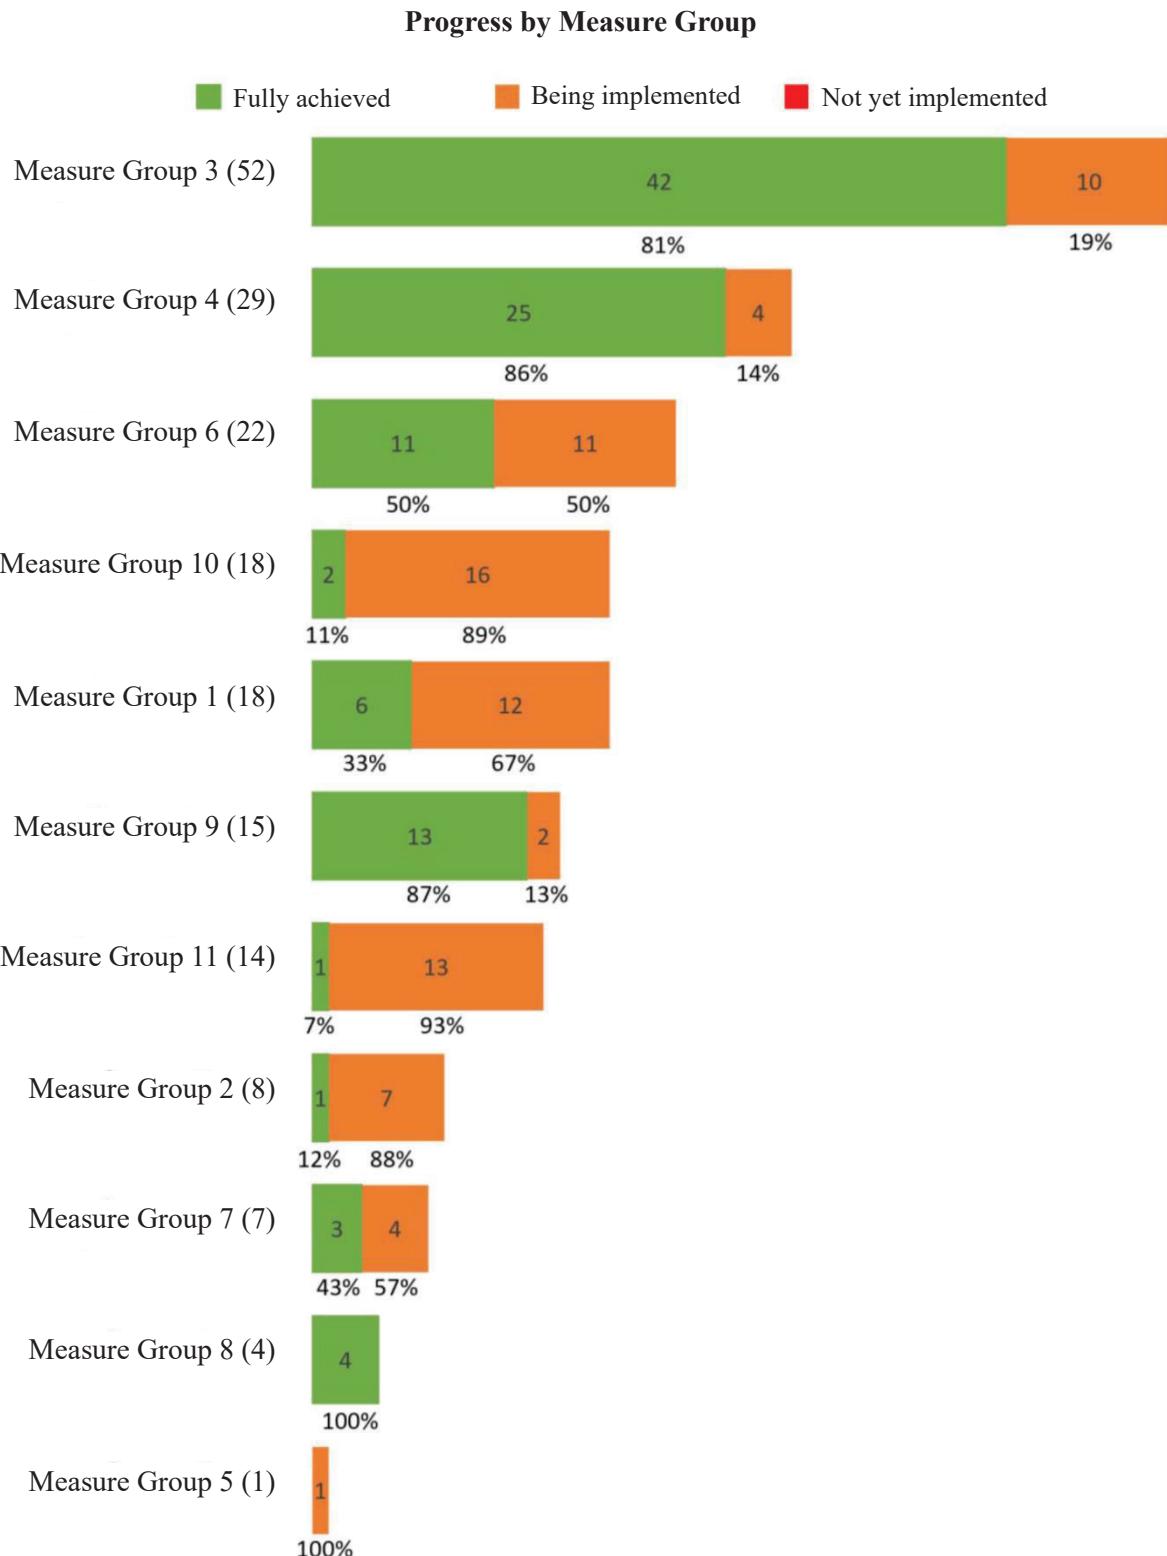

Figure 3 shows the progress in implementing measures by measure groups or packages, as stated in the Notification No. 1272, dated November 22, 2023, on the results of the 19th G-PSF, which includes 11 measure groups: (1) Improving the business and investment environment (18 measures); (2) Easing the compliance burden (8 measures); (3) Facilitating businesses under tax authority jurisdiction (52 measures); (4) Trade facilitation under customs authority jurisdiction (29 measures); (5) Promoting transportation and infrastructure (1 measure); (6) Restoring and promoting tourism development (22 measures); (7) Developing agriculture and agro-industry (7 measures); (8) Banking and finance sector (4 measures); (9) Mining and energy sector (15 measures); (10) Construction and real estate sector (18 measures); and (11) Other issues (14 measures). Notably, the group with the most measures is Group 3, "Facilitating businesses under tax authority jurisdiction", and the group with the fewest measures is Group 5, "Promoting transportation and infrastructure." The above graph is arranged in the order according to the number of measures per group.

In terms of progress, Group 8, with a total of 4 measures, has made excellent progress, achieving 100% of its measures. Meanwhile, Group 3, which has the greatest number of measures (52 measures), has fully achieved 42 measures, or approximately 81%. Group 4 (29 measures) has fully achieved 25 measures, or approximately 86%.

In particular, Group 5 is categorized as having no measure fully achieved which has only one measure and is currently in process of implementation. Group 10 has the largest number of measures under implementation, with 16 out of 18 measures (approximately 89%) still in progress.

IV. Institutional Mechanism

1. Process of Establishing an Institutional Mechanism for G-PSF

Establishing an institutional mechanism is crucial to ensure the sustainability of the G-PSF. Previously, this forum was organized under the coordination of the "Private Sector Development Steering Committee" (PSDSC), along with G-PSF sectoral working group mechanisms, which serve as an important high-level technical forum. These sectoral working group mechanisms also allow relevant ministries and institutions to gain a deeper understanding of specific sectoral issues under their jurisdiction. This has given ministries and institutions greater capacity to introduce additional targeted measures that are highly effective and provide flexibility in implementing some existing measures to address private sector concerns and challenges.

The Royal Government of Cambodia in the 7th Legislature of the National Assembly decided to modify the scope of the PSDSC from overall private sector development to coordinating the G-PSF mechanism to enhance the effectiveness of organizing and operating this forum and renamed the PSDSC as the "Coordination Committee for the G-PSF Mechanism" (CCG-PSF) through Sub-Decree No. 307 ANKr.BK, dated October 6, 2023. The CCG-PSF is chaired by H.E. Sun Chanhol, Deputy Prime Minister and First Vice-Chairman of the CDC, with representatives from 5 ministries/institutions as vice-chairs, along with representatives from 20 other relevant ministries/institutions as members, and a Deputy Secretary General of the CDC as Secretary. CCG-PSF has key roles and duties including:

- Responsibility for coordinating and organizing the G-PSF
- Establishing G-PSF sectoral working groups to discuss with the private sector as necessary
- Reviewing, classifying and distributing issues and recommendations from the private sector under the G-PSF mechanism to relevant ministries/institutions for review and resolution. Issues related to qualified investment projects (QIP) fall under the resolution authority of CDC/CIB. If issues have systemic and structural reform characteristics related to policies, or are cross-sectoral, they are subject to resolution by the Committee on Economic and Financial Policy (CEFP). In case both committees mentioned above cannot resolve those issues, they must respectfully further report to the Prime Minister for recommendations and solutions at the G-PSF plenary
- Responsibility for monitoring, reviewing, and evaluating the implementation of measures introduced under the G-PSF mechanism.

In practice, before organizing the 19th G-PSF, the CCG-PSF coordinated the updating of the composition of all 14 sectoral working groups, both government and private sector sides, to align with the composition of the Royal Government of the 7th legislature of the national assembly and according to the request of the Cambodia Chamber of Commerce. As a result, the Royal Government issued two decisions: 1) Decision No. 131 SSR, dated October 12, 2023, on the appointment of government sectoral working group members to serve as dialogue partners with the private sector members; and 2) Decision No. 130 SSR, dated October 12, 2023, on officially recognizing the composition of all 14 private sector working groups of the G-PSF. This forum mechanism has gradually expanded its scope from previously 7 to currently 14 sectoral working groups as of the 19th G-PSF. After the 19th G-PSF plenary, two additional new working groups were established (1)-the Digital Economy, Society and Telecommunications Working Group (Working Group "O") and (2)-the Territorial Administration, Security and Public Order Working Group (Working Group "P") through Decision No. 242 SSR, dated December 25, 2023. The Royal Government also issued Decision No. 96 SSR, dated May 21, 2024, appointing members of the two working groups above to serve as government dialogue partners with the private sector, and Decision No. 97 SSR, dated May 21, 2024, recognizing the composition of all 16 private sector working groups.

2. Working Mechanism for Monitoring and Evaluating Progress in Implementing Resolute Reform Measures Introduced at the 19th G-PSF Plenary

To promote monitoring and evaluation on the progress in implementing the Royal Government's resolute reform measures introduced at the 19th G-PSF, the CDC issued a decision establishing a working group as an executive body, with a clear division of duties. This working group has key duties, including: 1) Establishing a fully functioning and comprehensive monitoring and evaluation system; 2) Coordinating with relevant ministries/institutions to obtain progress information; and 3) Consolidating to create progress reports on the implementation of the Royal Government's resolute reform measures introduced at the G-PSF for semi-annual reporting to the Royal Government.

At the same time, the Cambodia Chamber of Commerce, which serves as the secretariat for the private sector side of the G-PSF mechanism, also established a high-level working group to strengthen and ensure high effectiveness of coordination and closer work with the Royal Government. This high-level working group also has the role of promoting active participation from business associations, aiming to strengthen the role of the private sector as a counterpart to the Royal Government in improving the business and investment environment in Cambodia.

V. Challenges and Recommendations

1. Challenges

A. Measure Implementation

In implementing these resolute reform measures, relevant ministries and institutions have encountered some challenges and raised the following requests:

Ministries and Institutions	Challenges	Requests
1. Ministry of Interior	(1) - Travelers are not yet fully aware of the usage and benefits of the Cambodia e-Arrival Card system.	(1) Seek support and cooperation from relevant government ministries,

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Promotion and dissemination of information about the usage and benefits of the aforementioned system by relevant government ministries, institutions, and the private sector, are not yet widespread. 	institutions, and the private sector in promoting the system.
	(2) Relevant government ministries, institutions, and private sector do not yet have a comprehensive understanding of the GDI Hotline system.	(2) Seek support and cooperation from relevant government ministries, institutions, and the private sector in promoting the GDI Hotline.
	(3) Lack of resources to establish a standardized system (automation system and camera system).	(3) Request support in resources for establishing a monitoring and control system.
2. Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation	(1) To date, Thailand has not yet provided Cambodia the draft amendment to the border crossing agreement for further study.	(1) The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation will continue to push and follow up with the Thai government.
3. Ministry of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries	(1) The private sector lacks adequate representation. Import and export firms specializing in agricultural products have not yet engaged with the Private Sector Working Groups.	(1) Private Sector Working Groups to mobilize import and export firms specializing in agricultural products to participate in the Groups.
4. Ministry of Labor and Vocational Training	(1) Complexity of sector-specific inspection skills, requiring different checklists and specialized inspectors. (2) Limited cooperation with the private sector in promoting worker participation in vocational training courses.	(1) Consider developing a simplified checklist that does not require redundant information and reduce the number of inspectors during inspections. (2) Strengthen cooperation between the private sector and the educational, technical and vocational training sectors.

	(3) - Limited understanding of apprenticeship obligations by the private sector. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Short internship periods at enterprises and institutions causing private sector hesitation in accepting vocational and technical skills training program students from poor and at-risk families (1.5 million individuals). 	(3) Increase promotion and consultation with the private sector regarding the implementation of apprenticeship obligations in accordance with the Labor Law.
	(4) Limited promotion of opportunities for cooperation with the private sector in providing training facilities and supporting production chain modernization.	(4) Request opportunities to promote and engage in discussions with the private sector on implementing capacity-building, upskilling or reskilling programs for workers.
	(5) The current Arbitration Council lacks of a clear structure.	(5) Request private sector support in expediting the institutionalization of the Arbitration Council.
5. Sihanoukville Provincial Administration	Koh Rong City lacks of the resources to conduct open administration spot-checks.	(1) Request drug testing equipment. (2) Koh Rong City requests boat(s) or speedboat(s).

B. Institutional Mechanism

As highlighted in Section IV, institutional mechanisms, and some necessary mechanisms to support the functioning of the G-PSF, have been established. However, a specific supporting institutional mechanism with full functions and adequate capacity to serve as an executive body for CCG-PSF, has not yet been established. In fact, according to the sub-decree on establishing CCG-PSF, there is currently one CDC/CIB Deputy Secretary General as the Secretary, while CCG-PSF does not yet have a secretariat to serve as an executive body and assistant for implementing its duties. This factor has necessitated the CDC to establish an ad hoc working group to assist in monitoring and evaluating the progress of implementing resolute reform measures introduced at the 19th G-PSF plenary. The above working group mobilizes senior officials and officials responsible for performing core work for CDC/CIB according to their respective roles and duties, and for other institutional mechanisms, leading to difficulties and limitations in organizing the G-PSF plenary, and monitoring and evaluation work.

Additionally, the organization and functioning of the overall G-PSF mechanism are not yet comprehensive, meaning that this G-PSF mechanism has not yet achieved full effectiveness. The main reasons stem from the challenges related to:

- 1) Meeting and reporting regimes of sectoral working groups are not yet clear

- 2) Procedures for submitting issues and providing input on resolution (related to inter-ministerial/institutional issues) to relevant stakeholders with competency and duty to resolve are still limited, and
- 3) lack of follow-up and notification of progress in referring and resolving issues back to the private sector that raised the issues.

C. Development and Implementation of the Monitoring and Evaluation System

Development and implementation of the monitoring and evaluation system to track the progress of resolute reform measures introduced at the 19th G-PSF have encountered some challenges as follows:

- 1) The timeframe, human resources and experience of the CDC are still limited, as it had only a short time to develop the system and prepare the progress report. Therefore, this monitoring and evaluation system is not yet fully functional, and the analysis is still limited.
- 2) The current system does not have the capacity to cover the evaluation or incorporate the private sector's feedback on the effectiveness of the G-PSF mechanism, as well as the effectiveness of the introduction and implementation of the measures.
- 3) This system has not yet been organized in a unified digital format on any technological platform that would allow relevant ministries/institutions to input data themselves. Therefore, inputting data into the system requires a lot of time and multiple verifications to reduce errors and inaccuracies that may occur.

2. Recommendations

A. Strengthening the Measure Implementation

To strengthen the effective implementation of the measures, some activities should be undertaken, including:

- 1) Ministries/institutions should incorporate measures under their responsibility into their annual budget plans and increase cooperation with development partners to obtain financing, technical tools, and assistance (including training to strengthen institutional capacity) to promote the measure implementation.
- 2) Ministries/institutions should prepare action plans for implementing measures by prioritizing those to be implemented measures and accelerating the resolution of challenges quickly and effectively to the fullest extent possible through the increased coordination and provision of incentives.
- 3) Relevant ministries/institutions should set clear timeframes for introducing and implementing measures and indicators in accordance with Notification No. 1272 on the results of the 19th G-PSF plenary.
- 4) Sectoral working groups should strive to mainstream and widely disseminate the results of sectoral working group meetings and plenary results through multiple media channels and workshops.
- 5) The private sector should be encouraged to use the G-PSF mechanism as a priority channel for raising challenges, concerns and requests.

B. Improving the Institutional Mechanism

Based on lessons, experiences, and results obtained from the findings of this report, some necessary activities should be undertaken to ensure the effectiveness of the institutional mechanism for the G-PSF, including:

- 1) Upgrading the function of the CDC's ad hoc monitoring and evaluation working group on the progress of the implementation of resolute reform measures to a full-capacity secretariat for the CCG-PSF, in order to implement duties assigned by the Royal Government and perform some additional necessary work as successively assigned by the CCG-PSF, especially on G-PSF plenary organization, monitoring and evaluation of progress in implementing resolute reform measures.
- 2) Preparing and implementing a standard operating procedures manual with clear provisions of the meeting regimes, regimes for reporting of the meeting results, procedures for submitting issues that cannot be resolved or that relate to other sectoral working groups, actions for issues without resolution measures, and roles and duties of relevant stakeholders.
- 3) Establishing secretariats for each sectoral working group with members appointed by sectoral working group co-chairs to be responsible for the following: organizing meetings, stakeholder liaison, coordination (including for) studies and research, providing technical input of solutions on issues raised, monitoring progress, preparing meeting summaries or minutes, and reporting to relevant stakeholders, etc.

C. Improving the Monitoring and Evaluation System

To improve the monitoring and evaluation system, the private sector and the Royal Government have raised some requests as follows:

- 1) Establish a comprehensive monitoring and evaluation system that can be used not only to track the progress of the measure implementation but also to evaluate impacts.
- 2) Include the private sector in the monitoring and evaluation process by highlighting private sector feedback and evaluation about the effectiveness of the overall G-PSF mechanism as well as the effectiveness of the introduction and the implementation of the measures.
- 3) Set up a technology platform and inter-ministerial technical working group to input data into the system after sectoral working group co-chairs have agreed on the content to be input into the system.
- 4) Prepare a guidance users' manual about how to use and input data into the technology platform and training workshops for relevant stakeholders.
- 5) Expand the scope of monitoring and evaluation to issues raised at the sectoral working group level to increase the confidence of business people and investors.
- 6) Publish and disseminate monitoring and evaluation results as well as all related documents and information online, allowing all relevant actors and the public to access and review.

VI. Conclusion and Way Forward

This progress report on the implementation of resolute reform measures introduced at the 19th G-PSF for the first semester of 2024 was prepared to track the progress of implementing measures outlined in Notification No. 1272, dated November 22, 2023, on the results of the 19th G-PSF plenary. This forum was successfully held on November 13, 2024, and marked as a new historic milestone for the Royal Government of the 7th Legislature of the National Assembly under the high leadership of Samdech Moha Bovor Thipadei Hun Manet, Prime Minister of the Kingdom of Cambodia, who chaired this forum for the first time, while also demonstrating the urgency and necessity of the Royal Government's economic agenda in this new mandate that aims to organize a joint journey between the Royal Government and the private sector to be more coherent and harmonious. In preparing this progress report, the 11 measure groups in the Notification were examined, analyzed and broken down into 188 measures. A quantitative approach was used, with progress monitoring defined at three levels - fully achieved, being implemented, and not yet implemented by using the G-PSF Tracking System.

Looking at the results of monitoring progress on implementing all 188 measures, it is observed that more than half of the measures were fully achieved within the first six months of 2024, indicating significant progress in measures implementation. At the same time, all measures have begun implementation, with at least one fully achieved by most ministries/institutions. However, nearly half of the measures are still being implemented, requiring ministries and institutions to accelerate the completion implementation of these measures, especially those that are not ongoing activities in nature.

Based on the results of progress monitoring and measuring above, specific challenges and recommendations have been prepared and included in this report. As such, this progress monitoring report serves as a foundational document for the Royal Government to review and consider in guiding and accelerating the implementation of the remaining measures, as well as introducing additional measures to address the issues raised by the private sector. This report also provides information for the private sector on the progress and accountability of ministries and institutions in implementing measures under their jurisdiction, to give the private sector comprehensive information about the Royal Government's efforts to improve the business and investment climate, with the aim to encourage the private sector to continue investing and further expand investment in Cambodia.

To address the challenges raised and in line with the recommendations highlighted above, in the foreseeable future, the CCG-PSF will undertake several tasks: (1) Establish a secretariat under the CDC/CIB as the executive body of CCG-PSF; (2) Prepare and implement a manual on standard operating procedures for organizing and operating the G-PSF mechanism; (3) Disseminate the results of this report; (4) Continue to cooperate with the CAPRED to develop a comprehensive monitoring and evaluation system; and (5) Incorporate private sector feedback and evaluation relating to the effectiveness of the mechanism and measure implementation.

In the long term, the CCG-PSF will: (1) Develop a technology platform for ministries and institutions to report the progress on implementing measures under their jurisdiction, along with preparing a user guidance manual and training workshops for relevant stakeholders on data input; (2) Expand the scope of monitoring and evaluation on issues raised by G-PSF sectoral working groups; and (3) Collaborate with the private sector to create a website for the G-PSF mechanism to publicize this mechanism and provide easy access to information for the private sector and relevant entities.

	2. Easing the compliance burden
19	2. Easing the burden on compliance Entrust His Excellency Heng Sour, Minister of the Ministry of Labor and Vocational Training, in completing the following tasks: 2.1. Continue leading and strengthening the inter-ministerial inspection mechanism as decided by the 18th Government-Private Sector Forum in March 2019. All ministries and institutions involved in the inter-ministerial inspection mechanism, including foreign manual labor inspections, must adhere to the proactive spirit to assist the private sector in assessing its compliance levels prior to joint inspections. The Ministry of Labor and Vocational Training has been implementing an “online self-declaration regime of labor inspections” that allows the private sector to fill out information. (This online process enables the private sector to) immediately discover its points of non-compliance. (The private sector then has) up to 45 days to review and supplement any relevant documents or to improve and rectify any shortcomings. Therefore, the private sector can self-rectify points of non-compliance to become compliant before the validity for correction has expired. All ministries and institutions must ensure that, in one year, there is only one joint inspection visit on (the same) one target. That is except where there are complaints coming directly from the workers/employees or any incidents have occurred.	MLVTT	In Progress

157	10.1.1. Continue to postpone the implementation of the package tax payment in stages until the end of 2024 for housing estate development (Boreys) companies that have been operating housing estate development projects and have real estate business licenses provided by real estate and mortgage regulators. Separately, companies that have been operating housing estate development projects (Boreys) without a real estate business license must hurry to register their projects to obtain a real estate business license in accordance with the regulatory procedures in force from the real estate and mortgage regulator by the end of 2023 (latest). (This is) to enable (those companies) to get the package tax payment renewal until the end of 2024;	MEF	In Progress
158	10.1.2. Increase the period of package tax payment from 12 months to 18 months for housing estate developers/development companies (Boreys) who pay taxes of less than US$ 1 million;	MEF	In Progress
159	10.1.2.1. Increase the period of package tax payments from 24 months to 36 months for housing estate developers who pay taxes of more than US$ 1 million;	MEF	In Progress
160	10.1.3. New housing estate developers/development companies (Boreys) that plan to develop undeveloped housing estates must pay taxes in accordance with the regulatory procedures in force (real regime) and must maintain proper accounting records;	MEF	In Progress
161	10.1.4. Continue to delay the implementation of capital gains tax only for the real estate sector until the end of 2024;	MEF	In Progress

No.	Resolute Reform Measures Introduced at the 19 th Government-Private Sector Forum	Responsible Ministry/Institution	Status
162	10.1.5. Continue stamp duty exemption on the transfer of ownership or possession of all types of housing in the form of a housing estate (Borey) with a value less than, or equal to, US$ 70,000 until the end of 2024;	MEF	In Progress
163	10.1.6. Collaborate with the National Bank of Cambodia to encourage and request the banking and financial institutions to reorganize/restructure loans according to the actual ability of the institution based on the principle of volunteering and agreement between the institution and the housing estate development companies (Boreys) in accordance with Prakas No.T.017.344.PrK, dated 1 December 2017, on the credit risk grading and impairment provisioning;	MEF	In Progress
164	10.1.7.Exempt from various penalties for housing estate development projects (Boreys), but the development company is required to fulfill its obligations in accordance with Prakas No. 089 MEF on “Real Estate Development Business Management;”	MEF	In Progress
165	10.1.8. Postpone the implementation - until the end of 2023 - of Ministry Prakas No. 563 MEF. PrK, dated 10 July 2020, on “Obligations to submit financial statements for independent audit” issued by the Ministry of Economy and Finance.	MEF	In Progress
